

Deb Dalwood has been an enthusiastic and loyal member of the South Australian Branch of IPSHA since 1995 when she became the Head of Junior School at Seymour College.

Even when taking on the Assistant Director role at the Association of Independent Schools (2008 – 2010) Deb continued to attend meetings and keep a keen interest on IPSHA's activities.

Her outstanding commitment to the Association motivated her to volunteer as Chair of the following Hub Groups – Physical Education (1996-2000) Deputies (2000 – 2002) and Music (1998 – 2000)

Before being elected to the position of President-elect and then State President 2002-2004, Deb happily assisted in chairing the Professional Development Hub Group and together with Chris Reimann took a key role as IPSHA representatives in organising the APPA Conference held in Adelaide.

There has not been a Tri-state nor national IPSHA Conference that Deb has not attended.

Her service to IPSHA has continued at the national level for a number of years from 2004 until the present where she has served as Federal president from 2014. This key role has also meant significant service and representation on APPA and associated national boards where she is highly regarded.

This significant and outstanding service coupled with her ever friendly and welcoming nature especially to new members has been a feature of her commitment and loyalty to IPSHA.

In essence the members of the SA State Executive believe that Deb Dalwood has indeed give exceptional service to the SA Branch of IPSHA and have no hesitation in recommending her for this HONORARY FELLOWSHIP recognition.
