

Graham Badge Citation for Honorary State Life Membership

Graham Badge has recently retired from his position as Head of Primary at Tranby College. He joined the association in JSHAA and thereafter IPSHA, 1978 as a very young Head and when it was a 'men only' association. Graham went on to work in a number of Independent Junior Schools., continuing his involvement in IPSHA.

One of his significant duties was the Chair of the WA branch of JSHAA at the 1984 AGM to speak to the motion, on behalf of the WA members, supporting the constitutional change to invite women heads to join the association. This was a very long overdue change and one that all IPSHA members are grateful for his efforts.

Graham continued his involvement in many IPSHA activities as a leader as well as the schools he led being involved in activities such as co-ed sporting activities, ecumenical services and chess competitions.
